

"Helen Kearins is one of Australia's great fighters for reconciliation and justice. In this collection of songs she brings her passionate commitment alive. Her songs are infused with a deep spirituality of justice, and extend from the green hills of Ireland to the red heart of this nation. She sings the stories of real people and allows us to imagine what might be possible if we find the heart, the wit and the spirit to right the wrongs of our history and build a future where Indigenous people can take their rightful place in the life of this country"

Phil Glendenning.
